

Assistance for Students

Students who have experienced a sexual assault, sexual violence or other crimes may seek advice, assistance and resources from the Compliance and Judicial Affairs office, Deans of Student Development, Educational Planning, Counseling and Completion* or the College's Title IX Coordinators. Individuals within these offices can assist the reporting party with accessing medical or counseling services, advocacy services, social support services, legal services, and police services. Even in the absence of a formal complaint, the College may be able to provide assistance to the reporting party with respect to his or her academic, living, transportation, or working situations. For example, a student might wish to explore changing into another class or class time.

 Free short term counseling is available by contacting Educational Planning, Counseling and Completion at the Central, North and South Campuses.*

What is Domestic/ Dating Violence?

Domestic violence can be defined as a pattern of abusive behavior that is used by an intimate partner to gain or maintain power and control over the other intimate partner. Domestic violence can be physical, sexual, emotional, economic, or psychological actions or threats of actions that influence another person. This can include any behaviors that intimidate, manipulate, humiliate, isolate, frighten, terrorize, threaten, blame, injure or wound someone.

Dating violence is defined as violence committed by a person who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim; and where the existence of such a relationship is determined based on the following factors:

- Length of the relationship
- Type of the relationship
- Frequency of interaction between the persons in the relationship

Types of Domestic/ Dating Violence

Physical Abuse:

- Hitting, slapping, shoving, grabbing, pinching, biting, hair pulling, etc. are types of physical abuse. This type of abuse also includes denying a partner medical care or forcing alcohol and/or drug use upon him or her.

Sexual Abuse:

- Coercing or attempting to coerce any sexual contact or behavior without consent. Sexual violence includes, but is certainly not limited to, marital rape, attacks on sexual parts of the body, forcing sex after physical violence has occurred, treating one in a sexually demeaning manner and controlling reproduction by sabotaging methods of birth control.

Intimate Partner Violence:

- Physical violence, sexual violence, stalking and psychological aggression (including coercive acts) by a current or former intimate partner.

Emotional Abuse:

- Undermining an individual's sense of self-worth and/or self-esteem is abusive. This may include, but is not limited to constant criticism, diminishing one's abilities, name-calling or forbidding one's attendance at school or employment.

Psychological Abuse:

- Elements of psychological abuse include– but not limited to– causing fear by intimidation; threatening physical harm to self, partner, children, or partner's family, friends, at school and/or work.

Stalking:

- Consistent behavior that is directed specifically at another person that causes that person to suffer substantial emotional distress or to fear for his or her personal safety or security.

How can I help a friend who is being abused?

Acknowledge your friend is in a difficult situation.

Let the friend know he/she is not alone.

Be supportive.

Listen and be available. Remember it may be difficult for your friend to talk about the abuse.

Be non-judgmental.

Respect your friend's decisions. There are many reasons why victims stay in abusive relationships. Do not criticize the choice to stay.

Don't be afraid to show that you are concerned.

Describe what you see is going on and that you want to help. Let your friend know he/she deserves a healthy, nonviolent relationship.

If your friend breaks up with an abuser, continue to be supportive.

Your friend may feel sad or lonely and be tempted to return to the abuser.

Encourage your friend to talk to professionals who can offer support.

San Jacinto College has resources such as the police, counseling services, and human resources. They can also direct you to other resources for assistance.
