

Assistance for Students

Students who have experienced a sexual assault, sexual violence or other crimes may seek advice, assistance, and resources from the office of student rights and responsibilities, student development, deans, student support services*, or the College's Title IX coordinators. Individuals within these offices can assist the reporting party with accessing medical or counseling, advocacy, social support, legal, and police services. Even in the absence of a formal complaint, the College may be able to help the reporting party with his or her academic, living, transportation, or working situation. For example, a student might wish to explore changing into another class or class time.

* Free short-term counseling is available by contacting student support services at the Central, North, and South Campuses.

What is Domestic/ Dating Violence?

Domestic violence includes felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse, a current or past intimate partner, a person whom the victim shares a child with, or a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of Texas.

Dating violence means violence committed by the actor against a person with whom the actor is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature. The existence of the relationship shall be determined based on a consideration of the following factors:

- Length of the relationship
- Type of the relationship
- Frequency of interaction between the people in the relationship

Dating violence includes, but is not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse. Dating violence does not include acts covered under the definition of domestic violence.

Am I a Victim of Domestic/ Dating Violence?

- Does your partner get jealous when you talk with others?
- Does your partner frighten or intimidate you?
- Does your partner put you down but then tell you that he/she loves you?
- Does your partner try to impose restrictions on the way you dress or your appearance?
- Have you been pushed, shoved, held down, hit, kicked, or had things thrown at you by your partner?
- Are you afraid to break up with your partner because of fear of personal safety?
- Has your partner forced or intimidated you into having sex?

If you feel you are in danger,
call 5555 (on-campus phone) or 281-476-9128.

Types of Domestic/ Dating Violence

Physical Abuse:

- Hitting, slapping, shoving, grabbing, pinching, biting, hair pulling, etc., are types of physical abuse. This type of abuse also includes denying a partner medical care or forcing alcohol and/or drug use upon him or her.

Sexual Abuse:

- Coercing or attempting to coerce any sexual contact or behavior without consent. Sexual violence includes, but is not limited to, marital rape, attacks on sexual parts of the body, forcing sex after physical violence has occurred, treating one in a sexually demeaning manner, and controlling reproduction by sabotaging methods of birth control.

Emotional Abuse:

- Undermining an individual's sense of self-worth and/or self-esteem, is abusive. This may include, but is not limited to constant criticism, diminishing one's abilities, name-calling, or forbidding one's attendance at school or employment.

Psychological Abuse:

- Elements of psychological abuse include, but are not limited to, causing fear by intimidation or threatening physical harm to self, partner, children, or partner's family or friends at school and/or work.

Stalking:

- Consistent behavior that is directed specifically at another person that causes that person to suffer substantial emotional distress or to fear for his or her personal safety or security.

How can I help a friend who is being abused?

Acknowledge your friend is in a difficult situation.

Let the friend know he/she is not alone.

Be supportive.

Listen and be available. Remember it may be difficult for your friend to talk about the abuse.

Be non-judgmental.

Respect your friend's decisions. There are many reasons why victims stay in abusive relationships. Do not criticize the choice to stay.

Don't be afraid to show that you are concerned.

Describe what you see and that you want to help. Let your friend know he/she deserves a healthy, nonviolent relationship.

If your friend breaks up with an abuser, continue to be supportive.

Your friend may feel sad or lonely and be tempted to return to the abuser.

Encourage your friend to talk to professionals who can offer support.

San Jacinto College has resources such as the police, counseling services, and human resources. They can also direct you to other resources for assistance.
