Ian Spooner First-Year Interim Head Coach

Fifth Season at San Jacinto
College Western Michigan (2005)

After eight seasons at the helm of the San Jacinto College men's soccer team, head coach Dr. David Santesteban received a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to work with the United States Soccer Federation (USSF) as one of nine technical advisors for the United States Men's and Youth National Teams program. He has taken a one-year leave of absence from the College to focus on his efforts with the USSF.

In Santesteban's absence, Ian Spooner, now in his fifth season with the San Jacinto College soccer team, will step up and take over as interim head coach. A former goalkeeper in college, Spooner has worked mainly with the San Jac keepers for the past four years, continuing the tradition of excellence of past San Jacinto College goalies.

Spooner spent the 2005-06 season as the assistant coach at Cumberland University of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). He holds a United States Soccer Federation National "C" Coaching License. He has spent the last two and a half years working for the Challenge Soccer Club, and the previous four years as a professional staff coach for Space City Soccer Club.

Spooner hails from Houston, but played collegiately at Western Michigan from 2001-2005. As a keeper for the Broncos, he was named the Mid-American Conference player of the week in September of 2003. Spooner was the 2004 Western Michigan Most Valuable Player and the 2001 newcomer of the year. He helped the Broncos to the 2003 MAC championship and the 2004 MAC runner-up.

Spooner holds a bachelor's degree in communications from Western Michigan.

Mira Mupier

Assistant Coach

First Season
University of North Carolina at Charlotte (2005)

Mira Mupier is in his first year as an assistant coach with the San Jacinto College soccer program. A native of Houston, Mupier brings a wealth of soccer experience to the team. He played high school soccer at Langham Creek where he was the District 5A offensive MVP and a member of the all-greater Houston team.

Mupier went on to be a four-year starter at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, where he was a four-time member of the Conference USA All-Conference team. He led the 49ers in scoring three years in a row, and was a "College Soccer News" freshman All-American. He ranks sixth all-time in goals scored and assists at UNC-Charlotte.

His professional career includes stints with the Pittsburgh River Hawks USL A League team (2005-07), the DC United Supporters Shield Champion (2007-08), Blokhus FC Denmark (2008-2011), and Aars BK Denmark (2012).

Mupier has coached for the Albion Hurricanes FC, a premier soccer club in Houston, as well as the East DC YMCA and St. Francis Elementary School.

Former San Jac stars make it big

Soccer players of any age can gain inspiration from the tales of Dane Richards, Kieron Bernard, and Francisco Calvo, former soccer stars at San Jacinto College who have taken their game to the next level. There is little doubt that they, and many of their peers, dreamed one day of making it to the big stage.

Prior to the 2003 season, Richards might not have known exactly where Houston was on the map, but former San Jacinto College head coach Ben Hunter knew him. Hunter, who had developed quite a knack for recruiting players from Jamaica, brought Richards to San Jacinto College that season. The rest, as they say, is history. The 2003 team, the last to play for the now retired Hunter, won 17 straight games before falling to Tyler in the Region XIV title game. Richards, displaying remarkable speed and ball handling skills, scored 20 goals that season. Playing for head coach Dr. David Santesteban the following season, Richards scored 25 times, becoming the all-time career scorer at San Jac. Along the way, Richards guided the team to a third-place finish at the national tournament. Richards went on to lead Clemson University to the NCAA College Cup, earning second-team NSCAA All-American honors after scoring 11 goals and nine assists in 20 games as a senior. He was a Hermann Award Finalist that year, and also garnered a NSCAA All-South first team selection as well as a first-team All-ACC selection. After graduation, the New York Red Bulls drafted Richards in the second round of the 2007 amateur draft. Now, the Montego Bay native is living his dream and playing the sport professionally. The Red Bulls' midfielder made his first professional start in April 2007 at Columbus and notched his first MLS point when he assisted on Clint Mathis' goal on April 15 against FC Dallas. Richards scored his first career MLS goal on May 5, 2007, against Real Salt Lake. He was a finalist for the 2007 MLS Rookie of the Year, and is a member of the NJCAA Soccer Hall of Fame class of 2011.

"I knew Dane could do this," Dr. Santesteban said. "In 2004, it didn't take me long to see what type of player he was and what he could become. It's a credit to his work ethic. It proves that if you do things right and believe, you have a chance to do whatever you like."

Bernard, who Dr. Santesteban recruited, followed much of the same path as Richards. He came to San Jac from Spanish Town, Jamaica, and quickly made his mark on the SJC program. A crafty defender, Bernard quickly established himself as a premier collegiate player. He captained the San Jac men's soccer team to a second place national finish in 2008, and also played for Portmore United in the Jamaican National Premier League in the 2008-09 season. Bernard turned professional on Dec. 15, 2008, when he signed with the newly established Austin Aztex in the USL First Division. He scored his first professional goal on Sept. 25, 2010 in a 4-2 win over AC St. Louis. Bernard was a two-time NJCAA and NSCAA All-American. Calvo quickly made his way up the professional ranks after returning to his native Costa Rica in the summer of 2011 to play for the national youth team. As luck would have it, one of Costa Rica's senior professional players went down with an injury, and Calvo was asked by national head coach Ricardo La Volpe to play in a friendly game against Nigeria, an opportunity most young athletes only dream about. As the only non-professional player on the team, he got the opportunity of a lifetime when he was called off the bench in the 59th minute. Calvo made such an impression that he was named a reserve call-up for the Costa Rica team at the 2011 Gold Cup, and later impressed coach La Volpe to win him a call-up for the Costa Rica squad at the 2011 Copa America.

Where have they gone?

The opportunity for San Jacinto College soccer players to continue their education and playing careers at four-year institutions is real. Over the past five years, dozens of San Jac players have been invited to do just that at colleges and universities across the country. Some are even afforded the opportunity to play professionally. Surrounded by the monuments of history, the industries and maritime enterprises of today, and the space age of tomorrow, San Jacinto College has been serving the citizens of East Harris County, Texas, since 1961. The College is committed to the goals and aspirations of a diverse population of 30,000 students in more than 200 degree and certificate options, including university transfer and career preparation. At the core of our values is student success...the reason for our being. Our comprehensive community college mission is to empower students who come with a wide variety of goals to find the assistance they need at their college, San Jacinto College.

In 2011, San Jacinto College was recognized as a leader in national student completion movement when it was named an Achieving the Dream Leader College. Achieving the Dream is a national initiative focused on helping low-income students and students of color complete their education. Throughout the course of its participation in Achieving the Dream, San Jacinto College increased Fall-to-Spring persistence through a combination of interventions including the First Year Experience Calling Program, Mandatory New Student Orientation, a student success course, free tutoring, and the Men of Honor program. San Jacinto College has also been named one of the nation's top 120 community colleges by the Aspen Institute, indicating a commitment to student excellence and success.

Our commitment to our community and this region is to assist in developing a skilled and trained workforce to help individuals to retain or advance in their jobs, or make career transitions. San Jacinto College has made a strong commitment to academic excellence, and our award-winning faculty members are passionate about teaching.

The College has placed an emphasis on upgrading facilities and technology to support student learning. Over the last decade, San Jacinto College has added new buildings to support teaching and learning in the health sciences, transportation, fine arts, and technology fields. The College also added Welcome Centers where students can receive assistance with the enrollment processes all in one location.

San Jacinto College faced unprecedented challenges in the wake of Hurricane Ike. The College sustained significant damage, and as a result, was closed for two and a half weeks. The instructional leaders and faculty diligently worked on a plan to complete all course learning outcomes by creatively working with in-class instruction, out-of-class assignments, and incorporating technology into learning to allow students to successfully complete the semester on time. The College plan was highly applauded by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) accreditation site visit team in November of 2008, when it granted the College reaccreditation. This plan has since become an integral part of the College's instructional strategies to help students succeed and graduate.

Each year, Community College Week magazine releases a report on the nation's community colleges, ranking the Top 100 or the Top 50 based on data gathered from the United States Department of Education. From more than 1,000 community colleges nationwide, San Jacinto College ranked 31st as an associate degree producer in 2012. In addition to the top 35 overall ranking, several San Jacinto College programs rank among the nation's top 100 as well. They are:

- Business, management, marketing, and related support services: #27
- Family and consumer sciences/human sciences: #9
- Health professions and related programs: #21
- Registered nursing, nursing administration, nursing research, and clinical nursing: #18
- Science technologies/technicians: #6

Students and employees come to San Jacinto College with various goals and aspirations, and we remain committed to their success.
